

JOSEPHSON INSTITUTE

Working to create a world where decisions and behavior are guided by ethics.

WHO ARE WE?

Nationally active and based in southern California, the Institute uses presentations, consultations, trainings, workshops, and publications to help focus the energy of people who want to do something to make our society more honest, fair, caring, and accountable. Since 1987 the Institute has conducted programs for more than 100,000 leaders — in government and the armed forces, in business and journalism, in law and law enforcement, and in education and the nonprofit community. The nationwide CHARACTER COUNTS! youth ethics initiative is a project of the Institute.

Our founder Michael Josephson is a former law professor and businessman who founded the Institute in the name of his parents and serves as its president on a volunteer basis. Often featured in the news media, Mr. Josephson has become one of the nation's most sought-after ethicists. He serves as Institute president without salary. The Institute is overseen by a volunteer, independent Board of Governors.

WHOSE VALUES?

The Institute holds that ethical obligations are based on common ethical values applicable and knowable to all, regardless of gender, race, age, politics, or religion. These values, called the Six Pillars of Character, are trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship. They are the foundation of all of our programs.
